GEORGE the Third, by the Grace of God, of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith, and so forth.

To all to whom these Presents shall come, GREETING :

WHEREAS our loving subjects PETER MIDDLETON, JOHN JONES, and SAMUEL BARD, of our city of New-York, physicians, by their humble petition presented unto our trusty and well-beloved CADWALLADER COLDEN, Esq., our Lieutenant-Governor, and then our commander-in-chief, of our province of New-York, and the territories depending thereon in America, and read in our council for our said province, on the ninth day of March, which was in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and seventy, did, among other things, in substance, set forth, that there had been a subscription set on foot by them, for the purpose of erecting a public Hospital in our said city of New-York, and that sundry public spirited persons, influenced by principles of benevolence, had liberally subscribed towards the same ; that from the manifest utility of such an infirmary the petitioners hoped for further contributions, and that some very considerable donations had been then already promised, in case the success of the Institution should be rendered probable ; but that the said monies could not be conveniently collected, or the design prosecuted with vigor, unless a corporation should be formed for that purpose ; and therefore the petitioners humbly prayed our Letters Patent, forming a corporation for the purposes aforesaid : now we, taking into our royal consideration the beneficial tendency of such an Institution within our said city, calculated for relieving the diseases of the indigent, and preserving the lives of many useful members of the community, are graciously pleased to grant the said humble request of our said loving subjects : know ye therefore, that we, of our special grace, certain knowledge, and mere motion, have willed, given, granted, ordained, constituted, and appointed, and by these presents for us, our heirs and successors, do will, give, grant, ordain, constitute, and appoint, that the Mayor, Recorder,

ACTS OF THE LEGISLATURE.

AN ACT for the better and more permanent support of the Hospital in the City of New-York.

Passed March 14th, 1806.

WHEREAS it has become necessary, on account of the increasing number of patients in the Hospital, in the city of New-York, to enlarge the same, by erecting additions thereto, for the more convenient accommodation of the sick and disabled, and particularly, to provide suitable apartments for the maniacs, adapted to the various forms and degrees of insanity: And whereas, the said Hospital is an institution of great public utility, and humanity, as well as the general interests of the state, requires that fit and adequate provision should be made for the support of such an infirmary for sick and insane persons: Therefore, the better to enable the Governors of the said Hospital, by means of a permanent fund, to maintain and improve the said Hospital,

I. Be it enacted by the people of the state of New-York, represented in Senate and Assembly, That the Treasurer of this state shall every year hereafter, until the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, upon the warrant of the comptroller, pay to the treasurer of the Society of the Hospital in the city of New-York, in America, for the use of the said corporation, in quarter yearly payments, out of any monies in the treasury of this state not otherwise appropriated, the annual sum of twelve thousand five hundred dollars; the first quarterly payment to be made on the first day of May next; which said annual sum of twelve thousand five hundred dollars, shall become chargeable upon the duties on sales at public auction or vendue in the said city of New-York.

II. And be it further enacted, That the act, entitled "An act to continue the provision for the public Hospital, in the city of New-York," passed the 2d March, 1805, be and the same is hereby repealed.

III. And be it further enacted, That the Governors of the said Hospital shall make an annual report of the state of that institution to the legislature.

AN ACT to alter the Style and Title of the Society of the Hospital in the City of New-York, in America, and to amend the Charter thereof.

Passed March 9th, 1810.

WHEREAS "the Society of the Hospital in the city of New-York in America," by their petition under their common seal, have represented to the legislature, that doubt had arisen whether the election of members under a by-law of the said corporation, existing for many years past, had been made in strict conformity with the charter of the said society, and that their franchises under the said charter might thereby be rendered insecure, and have prayed that their said franchises may be confirmed to them and secured from the consequences of any mistake, or any future inaccuracy or misconstruction; and also that the legislature would be pleased to change the name and style of the said corporation, and to amend their charter in the manner hereinafter mentioned; therefore,

I. Be it enacted by the people of the State of New-York, represented in Senate and Assembly, That the said corporation shall forever hereafter be known and distinguished by the name and style of "the Society of the New-York Hospital;" and by that name shall continue and be a body corporate and politic, and sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered unto, without any seizure or forejudger of their franchises, liberties or privileges, or being thereof excluded or ousted, for or upon any pretence of any forfeiture or misdemeanor at any time heretofore done, committed or suffered; and the said corporation shall and may have and enjoy all their rights, grants, franchises, lands, tenements, hereditaments, and estates whatsoever, in like manner, as if no misuser or other cause of forfeiture had heretofore occurred; and all the acts of said corporation shall be and hereby are confirmed and declared to be as valid to all intents and purposes as if no misuser or other cause of forfeiture had happened or been committed.

II. And be it further enacted, That hereafter the president, vice-president, treasurer and secretary of the said corporation, shall be elected by the governors of the same, and not, as heretofore, by the members of the said corporation at large.

AN ACT for the further support of the New-York Hospital.

Passed 23d March, 1810.

Be it enacted by the People of the State of New-York, represented in Senate and Assembly, That there shall be paid to the treasurer of the New-York Hospital, for the time being, out of the monies arising from the duties on goods sold in the city of New-York, three thousand five hundred dollars per annum, for the space of ten years from the passing of this act, to be paid quarter yearly, in four equal payments, and the first quarter to be paid on the first day of August next, and quarterly thereafter, for and during the above term of ten years: Provided always, That at any time within the period aforesaid, the legislature may repeal this act.

NOTE.—The above Act was repealed by the 5th section of the Act, entitled "An Act respecting navigable communications between the great Western and Northern Lakes and the Atlantic Ocean," passed April 15, 1817.

AN ACT to enable the Society of the New-York Hospital to erect a new building for the accommodation of insane patients.

Passed April 17, 1816.

Whereas the Governors of the New-York Hospital have represented to the Legislature, that the building heretofore erected for the accommodation of insane patients, has, by reason of their increased number, become wholly inadequate for the purpose for which it is intended, that they are desirous of erecting another building for the said purpose, and have purchased a very eligible site for the same, but that the funds of the institution being merely sufficient for its ordinary expenses, they are unable, without aid of the Legislature, to carry their intention into effect:

And whereas, there is no other institution in the state in which such patients can be taken care of and relieved: And whereas humanity, and the interest of the state, require that fit provision should be made for the care and cure of insane persons: Therefore,

Be it enacted by the people of the State of New-York, represented in Senate and Assembly, That during the period mentioned in the first section of the act, entitled "An act for the better and more permanent support of the Hospital in the city of New-York," the Treasurer of this state shall pay to the treasurer of the Society of the New-York Hospital, in quarter yearly payments, out of any monies in the treasury of this state, not otherwise appropriated, the annual sum of ten thousand dollars, the first quarter yearly payment to be made on the first day of May next, which said annual sum shall be chargeable upon the duties on sales at public auction or vendue in the said city of New-York: Provided always, that all payments heretofore directed by law, to be made out of the aforesaid duties for the support of charitable institutions in the city of New-York, shall be made previous to the payment of the sum hereby granted to the said Society of the New-York Hospital.

AN ACT to amend the Charter of "the Society of the New-York Hospital."

Passed 20th March, 1828.

Be it enacted by the people of the State of New-York represented in Senate and Assembly, That in the event of any vacancy happening in the Board of Governors of the New-York Hospital, either by death, resignation, or otherwise, such vacancy may be filled, until the next annual election, by the Board of Governors for the time being, any thing in the Charter of "the Society of the New-York Hospital" to the contrary notwithstanding.

BY-LAWS AND REGULATIONS.

Be it ordained by the Governors of the Society of the New-York Hospital, and it is hereby ordained by the authority of the same, That the following rules and regulations be, and they are hereby established, as laws and ordinances of the said corporation ; and that all other by-laws, rules, and regulations heretofore made, be, and the same are hereby repealed.

CHAPTER I.

Of the Election of Governors and Officers.

1. On the third Tuesday in May, in each year, an election shall be held at the New-York Hospital, for twenty-six Governors of the Society of the New-York Hospital, at which election three inspectors (being members and not governors,) to be appointed by the Governors, at the stated meeting immediately preceding the election, or such of them as may attend, shall preside. But in case neither of them should attend, then the members of the Society convened, shall appoint any two of their number to act as inspectors, and preside at the said election.

2. The poll of the said election for governors shall be opened at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, and closed at two o'clock in the afternoon, on the same day : and every member of this corporation who shall vote at the said election, shall deliver to the inspectors a ballot containing the names of not more than twenty-six persons, as Governors : and the inspectors shall deposit all the ballots so delivered to them in a box ; and shall insert the names of the persons so voting as aforesaid, in a poll list, to be kept by them for that purpose. And so soon as the poll of the said election shall be closed, the inspectors shall open and count the said ballots, and shall openly declare the names of the twenty-six persons who shall be found to have been elected Governors, by the greatest majority of all the votes given ; and shall deliver a certificate thereof, under their hands, to the secretary, to be by him laid before the Governors, at their next meeting.

3. In case the election of any of the said Governors shall be declared void, such Governor shall be removed from the exercise of his office. And whenever any Governor shall for any reason, be removed, or shall die, or resign, or refuse, or neglect to act in, and execute the office for which he was chosen, then the Governors at their next monthly meeting, after it shall have been ascertained and recorded in their book of minutes that the office has become vacant, or as soon after that monthly meeting as may be convenient, shall elect by ballot another member of this corporation, a Governor in place of the person whose office shall become vacant as aforesaid, but no person shall thus be elected a Governor unless there shall be given for him the votes of a majority of the whole number of Governors.

4. At the first meeting of Governors, after every annual election, there shall be chosen by ballot by the majority of the Governors present, one President, one Vice-President, one Treasurer, and one Secretary.

CHAPTER II.

Of the Oath or Affirmation to be taken by the Officers of this Corporation.

1. The president and vice-president, for the time being, and the president and vice-president, of the preceding year, shall respectively have power to administer to each of the officers mentioned in the next section, an oath or affirmation of the tenor following, viz : " I do swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully and duly execute the office of _____ of the Society of the New-York Hospital, according to the best of my ability."

2. Every president, vice-president, governor, treasurer, and secretary, shall take the said oath or affirmation, before he acts in his office.

CHAPTER III.

Of the President and Vice-President.

1. The president may call a meeting of the governors, whenever he shall think necessary, and may appoint the time and place of such meeting, (provided the latter shall be in the city of New-York,) giving, at least, one day's notice thereof.

2. The president shall preside at all meetings of the governors, and shall preserve order therein ; he shall nominate all committees, except such as shall be chosen by ballot.

3. When the office of president shall be vacant, or when the president shall be absent, the vice-president shall succeed to all his rights and duties.

4. The president and vice-president shall visit the Hospital and the Bloomingdale Asylum, at least once in every month, to inspect the general state of the institution, and shall report their observations thereon to the next monthly meeting of the Governors.

CHAPTER IV.

Of the Governors.

1. A monthly meeting of the governors shall be held in the governor's room, at the Hospital, on the first Tuesday in every month, at half past four o'clock in the afternoon.

2. Seven governors, including the president or vice-president, shall be a quorum for transacting all business, except the alien-ating any of the real or personal estate of the corporation, or the leasing any of the real or mixed estate thereof, for a longer term than one year, or for the suspending or discharging an officer, physician, or surgeon, for which purposes the consent of a majority of all the governors shall be necessary.

3. The governors shall ~~annually~~ appoint, by ballot, ~~four~~ physicians and ~~six~~ surgeons to the Hospital, and also a resident physician to have the sole care of the insane in the Bloomingdale Asylum, who shall receive commissions under the seal of the corporation; and every physician and surgeon, hereafter to be appointed, shall hold his office until the first stated monthly meeting of the governors, to be held after the next ensuing annual election, or unless re-elected, until another is appointed in his stead. But no person shall be appointed physician or surgeon, unless he shall have been nominated to that place, at a previous monthly meeting.

4. If any officer, physician, or surgeon, shall become unfit to execute his office, or shall misdeemean himself in his office, contrary to any of the by-laws of this corporation, or refuse or neglect to execute the same, the visiting committee, or any member of the corporation, may exhibit against him a complaint in writing to the governors, at a legal meeting; and thereupon a notice of the said complaint shall be given to the person complained of, and a time shall be appointed (not less than six days after service of the said notice) for the person complained of to make his defence before the governors: and the governors, having examined into the truth of the complaint, and heard the defence of the party accused, if any shall be made, may, with the concurrence and approbation of a majority of the whole number of governors, upon such examination, and due proof, suspend or discharge the officer, physician, or surgeon, complained of as aforesaid.

5. At the monthly meeting in ~~June~~, in each year, the governors shall appoint a superintendent or steward, matron, apothecary, clerk, and librarian for the Hospital, and a warden and matron for the Bloomingdale Asylum, who shall hold their offices during the pleasure of the governors; ~~a committee of the Bloomingdale Asylum,~~ and also a person or persons, to be chosen by ballot, to supply the Hospital with medicines. The governors shall also at the same meeting, take order for obtaining the services of a chaplain to the Hospital, and for prescribing the duties to be performed by him.

6. At the same monthly meeting of the governors, a committee shall be appointed, to be denominated the "Library Committee," to consist of three of the governors, one physician, and one surgeon of the Hospital, whose duty it shall be to purchase books, and to take the general care and superintendence of the library, and to report to the monthly meeting of the governors in January, in each year, a statement of the amount received and expended on account of the library during the year.

7. There shall be a visiting committee, to consist of three governors, to serve three months, one of them to be appointed at each monthly meeting. There shall also be an inspecting committee to consist of two governors, to serve two months, one of them to be appointed at each monthly meeting.

8. At the monthly meeting, in December, in each year, a committee shall be appointed to audit the accounts of the Hospital, and to make an inventory of all the real and personal estate belonging to the corporation, a schedule of all the deeds, bonds, &c. in the custody of the treasurer, and a general statement of the accounts: which inventory, schedule, and statement shall be made up and produced by them, at the next monthly meeting, or at the one following: and another committee shall also be appointed to draft the annual report of the state of the Hospital to be laid before the legislature. This draft shall be presented to the governors at their next monthly meeting, or at the one following. One governor, one physician, and one surgeon shall be appointed to prepare a table of the diseases of the patients in the Hospital during the year.

9. Every committee, whether standing or special, shall report in writing, upon every subject referred to them.

10. At each monthly meeting, the minutes of the visiting committee, of the inspecting committee, and the Bloomington Asylum committee shall be produced, that the governors may be informed of their proceedings.

11. The governor's room shall be kept solely for the use of the governors, and no other person (except the librarian when necessarily employed in the library) shall be permitted to use it, without the permission of the visiting committee.

12. The president, vice-president, treasurer, and secretary shall be a committee of the sinking fund, and shall have charge of said fund, and shall report the state of the same, with their proceedings to the monthly meeting of the governors in the month of January, in each year.

CHAPTER V.

Of the Election of Members.

1. Whenever a governor shall propose a person to be elected a member of this corporation, he shall be ballotted for at a monthly meeting of the governors; and if there shall be a majority of votes in his favor, he shall be duly elected.

2. If the person so elected, shall at any time previous to his election, have paid into the treasury the sum of ~~forty~~ dollars, he shall, immediately upon his election, be admitted a member of the corporation, and shall receive from the secretary a certificate of such admission, under the common seal. But if such payment has not been made, then the member elect, shall, within three months after his election, pay the said sum of ~~forty~~ dollars to the treasurer; and upon the governors being informed that such payment hath been made, they shall order him to be admitted, and he shall receive a certificate as aforesaid. And unless such payment shall be made within the three months the election of the person so making default, shall be void; but the governors may in any particular instance in their discretion dispense with such payment, and order the member elect to be admitted immediately. No person hereafter elected shall be deemed a member of this corporation, until he shall be admitted as aforesaid.

CHAPTER VI.

Of the Treasurer.

1. The treasurer shall give security to be approved by the governors, for the faithful performance of his trust.

2. He shall have the custody of all bonds, title deeds, and other papers and documents relating to the property of the corporation.

3. He shall open an account with one of the banks in the city of New-York, in the name of this corporation; and he shall deposit all monies, immediately upon his receiving them in such bank.

4. He shall keep a book containing blank checks; and in drawing for money he shall use the said checks, and insert in the margin opposite to them respectively, their amounts and dates, and the names of the persons to whom they are payable, and on what account.

5. He shall cause a book to be kept, at the Hospital, by the clerk, for the sole purpose of keeping an account with the bank; and he shall cause the clerk to enter in such book, all deposits made and checks drawn, with their amounts, dates, and the names of the persons to whom they are payable.

6. The treasurer shall, from time to time, pay such sums as he shall think necessary to defray the expenses of the superintendent's department.

7. The treasurer shall pay no other monies, without a resolution of the board of governors or a written order from the visiting committee, or from the committee of the Bloomingdale Asylum, for expenditures in their department.

8. The treasurer shall cause to be kept at the Hospital a journal and a ledger, in which shall be contained an account of receipts, an account of expenditures, an account with the bank, an account with the superintendent, and such other accounts as may be necessary.

CHAPTER VII.

Of the Secretary.

1. The secretary shall have the custody of the seal of the corporation.

2. He shall attend the meetings of ~~the society and~~ of the governors, and take minutes of the proceedings of each meeting, and see that the clerk transcribes them into a book provided for that purpose.

3. Immediately after the election of governors and other officers, he shall give notice to the different persons elected.

4. On the day preceding every meeting, stated or special, he shall send notice of the time and place of such meeting to each of the governors.

5. At every meeting he shall read the minutes of the preceding meeting at length.

6. He shall cause the reports to the legislature, and the annual state of the Hospital, to be regularly entered upon the minutes.

7. He shall furnish certificates to the members of the corporation in the manner prescribed by the by-laws.

VIII.

Of the Visiting Committee.

1. The visiting committee shall meet twice in every week, at the hospital. If any member of the committee should be unable to attend, he shall procure some other governor to attend, in his stead.

2. They shall receive or reject applicants for admission, as in their discretion they shall think advisable, having regard to the existing circumstances of the hospital; but they shall admit no person, without a previous examination by one of the physicians and surgeons, or by the house-physician, or house-surgeon.

3. They shall also determine whether the applicant shall be received as a pauper or pay-patient; and in the latter case, they shall agree upon the price to be paid weekly, and take such security, as they may deem requisite; but this and the last preceding article shall not apply to the admission of patients in the Bloomingdale Asylum, which is solely entrusted to the asylum committee.

4. They shall carefully inquire of every pauper previous to admittance, whether he has arrived at this port within two years, and if that shall appear to be the fact, they shall make a minute thereof in their book, and direct the clerk to enter the name of such pauper in the book as an emigrant, and to inquire of the superintendent of the alms-house, the name of the owner of the vessel in which the pauper has arrived, or of his security, which shall be entered on the admission book, in order that payment may be obtained on the bond given to the corporation of the city of New-York, pursuant to the laws of the state.

5. They shall keep a book of minutes, and enter therein the names of all patients received or discharged, and of such other business as comes before them; which book must be laid before the governors, at every monthly meeting.

6. They shall give such orders and establish such regulations as they shall think proper, to carry into effect the objects of this institution; provided such orders and regulations are not inconsistent with the charter and by-laws.

7. On every visiting day, they shall inquire of the physicians and surgeons, or, in their absence, of the house-physician, or house-surgeon, whether any of the pauper patients are incurable, or in a condition to leave the Hospital ; and shall direct all such to be discharged, so that no improper objects be permitted to remain.

8. The committee may direct the superintendent to give some relief, in money or clothes, to patients, who, from extreme poverty, or circumstances of peculiar distress, may need such aid at the time of their discharge. But they are to exercise great caution in affording such assistance, lest it should encourage improper or too frequent applications.

9. If any patient shall go out without leave, be guilty of drunkenness, profane swearing, or otherwise misbehave, the committee may, at their discretion, discharge him.

10. They shall take care that the patients in each ward are supplied with Bibles, and such other religious books as they may think useful.

11. They shall have the general charge and care of the property of the Hospital ; and shall frequently remind the superintendent and other officers of the house, of the necessity of attention, economy, cleanliness, and good conduct in the discharge of their several duties.

12. Whenever they may think it necessary that a special meeting of the governors should be called, they shall apply for that purpose to the president, or, in his absence, to the vice-president.

13. In case the house-physician, house-surgeon, or apothecary, shall neglect any of the duties prescribed to him, or refuse to comply with any reasonable request of the superintendent, the visiting committee may suspend the offender, and report the case to the next monthly meeting of the governors ; and the vacancy, in the mean time, shall be supplied by such person as the committee may appoint.

14. The committee shall, on each visiting day, insert in a book kept for that purpose, the times of their own attendance, and of that of the physicians and surgeons.

15. The visiting committee shall have the general superintendence of the buildings and other improvements belonging to this corporation, ~~except the Bloomingdale Asylum~~, and it shall be their duty to see that all such repairs or alterations as may be directed by the governors be faithfully and economically executed.

CHAPTER IX.

Of the Inspecting Committee.

1. It shall be the duty of the inspecting committee to inquire whether the by-laws and regulations of the governors relative to the management and economy of the house, are carried into effect.

2. They shall visit the wards in the hospital at least once a week, and also the wards and cells of the Bloomingdale Asylum, ~~at least once a month~~; inquire into the behavior of the superintendent, warden, matrons, and nurses, towards the patients; examine particularly, whether economy be observed; and as to the cleanliness of the halls, wards, apartments, and beds; whether the floors are frequently washed, and the walls white-washed; whether the bread and other provisions are of good quality; whether the patients are allowed a sufficient quantity; whether they are regularly attended by the physicians and surgeons, and whether the apothecary's shop is kept neat and in good order. They are also to inquire whether any improvements can be made for the greater comfort of the patients.

3. They shall inquire particularly whether the wards are properly ventilated, so that they may be supplied with pure and wholesome air, and shall prohibit the patients from using the fires or stoves in their wards for culinary purposes.

4. At least once in each month, they shall examine the house-physician and house surgeon, as to the performance of their respective duties, and as to the daily attendance and behavior of the pupils intended as candidates for the offices of house-physician and house surgeon.

5. They shall keep a book of minutes, and enter therein their proceedings and observations, relative to all the objects of their appointment, which book shall be laid before the governors, at every monthly meeting.

CHAPTER X.

Of the Consulting Physicians and Surgeons.

1. The consulting physicians and surgeons shall be considered as counsellors, and shall be invited to attend at all capital operations in the hospital.

2. They may recommend persons to be admitted as patients, in like manner as the governors.

3. Each consulting physician and surgeon, shall have the privilege of introducing three of his students gratis, to see the practice of the house, and to the use of the library for one year in like manner as the physicians and surgeons of the hospital.

CHAPTER XI.

Of the Physicians and Surgeons.

1. The physicians and surgeons shall make such arrangement among themselves, that the hospital may be attended in the manner hereinafter directed.

2. One physician shall visit every medical patient who may be afflicted with an acute disease, at least once every day, and oftener if necessary ; and every medical patient in the hospital, without exception, twice in every week.

3. At such visits, the attending physician shall inquire, whether his directions and prescriptions have been carefully observed. He shall attend to the neatness and ventilation of the wards, and give such directions on those subjects, as may be necessary, to the superintendent. He shall direct the house-physician to report to the superintendent such patients as are in a proper condition to leave the hospital.

4. ~~Two~~ ^{any} surgeons shall ~~constantly~~ be in attendance on the Hospital, ~~one of whom shall have the charge of all the surgical wards in the Marine Department, and of the Ward No. 2, in the main building, the other shall have charge of all the other surgical wards in the main building.~~ The choice of attendance for the term, on either of these two divisions, shall be settled by agreement between themselves, or by lot. They shall both visit the hospital, at least, three times a week, and oftener when necessary, and every surgical patient under their care respectively, without exception, at least, once a week. At such visits, ~~they~~ shall attend to the ventilation and neatness of the surgical wards, and give such directions on these subjects, as may be necessary, to the superintendent, and ~~they~~ shall direct their ~~respective~~ house-surgeons, to report to the superintendent, such surgical patients as may be in a proper condition to leave the hospital.

5. The times of their attendance shall be so arranged by the physicians and surgeons, respectively, as not to interfere with each other, and so that the students, who attend the practice of the house, may accompany them in their visits to the patients.

6. If any physician or surgeon shall be prevented from attending in his turn, he shall procure some other belonging to the hospital to attend in his stead.

7. The attending physician and surgeons shall be present at the regular meetings of the visiting committee, to confer with them on the management of the house, and to examine applicants for admission.

8. No capital operation, except in cases of immediate danger, shall be performed, without the previous approbation of at least two surgeons, nor without inviting all the physicians and surgeons belonging to the hospital, to be present at the operation.

9. No drugs or medicines shall be purchased without a written order, entered by the attending physician, an attending surgeon, or the physician of the Bloomingdale Asylum, in a pass-book kept for that purpose.

10. The attending physician and surgeon shall, on the first Monday in every month, inspect the apothecary's shop, and see that it is kept in proper order, and that good medicines are regularly supplied, and shall report all neglects and improprieties on these subjects, whether in the persons furnishing the medicines, or in the apothecary, to the governors, at their next monthly meeting.

11. Each of the attending physicians and surgeons shall report in writing to the governors, after his tour of attendance is completed, the general condition of the hospital during that period; and this report shall state, whether the house-physician and the house-surgeons, and their assistants, have discharged their respective duties, with skill and fidelity; and whether the nurses have treated the sick with humanity, and shall also contain such suggestions and remarks as shall appear to him to be useful.

12. At the close of every year, a table of the diseases of the patients in the Hospital, and in the Bloomingdale Asylum, during the year then expired, shall be made out and duly arranged, in order that the same may be published with the general account of the state of the Hospital, which table shall be prepared by one governor, one physician, and one surgeon, to be appointed for that purpose by the governors.

13. In order to render the hospital, as far as may consist with the welfare of the patients, conducive to the advancement of medical science, one or more of the physicians, and one or more of the surgeons, may upon application, receive from the governors permission to give clinical lectures, and the physicians and surgeons so permitted, shall be entitled to perform their tour of duty during the usual period of public instruction, and shall attend such of the wards, as may be assigned to them respectively by the governors. The clinical lectures shall not be given at such an hour as will interfere with the visits to the wards, and the permission to deliver them may be withdrawn by the governors whenever the interest of the institution shall in their opinion require it.

14. The physicians and surgeons may recommend persons to be admitted as patients, in like manner as the governors.

CHAPTER XII.

Of the House-Physician and House-Surgeons.

1. There shall be appointed one house-physician, and two house-surgeons, each of whom shall serve one year. The term of service of each of the house surgeons shall be equally divided between the two surgical divisions of the hospital, to the end, that each house-surgeon shall reside, and serve six months in the main building, and six months in the marine department. The Visiting Committee shall assign to the house-surgeons the division of the hospital, in which they are respectively to commence their term of service. No person shall be appointed to the office of house-physician, or of a house-surgeon, until he shall have attained the age of twenty-one years, nor until he shall have laid before the governors satisfactory testimonials of his good moral character, and also a certificate in the following form.

“ We do hereby certify, that A. B. hath been a private pupil of C. D., a practising physician, (or surgeon, as the case may be,) for the space of three years, that he has passed his examination for a degree, or for a license, and that we believe him to possess skill and ability to execute the office of a house-physician (or house-surgeon, as the case may be,) and we do recommend him to the governors for said office.” Which certificate shall be signed by at least three physicians of the hospital, if the candidate is recommended for the office of house physician, and by at least four surgeons of the hospital, if he is recommended for the office of house-surgeon.

2. The house-physician and house-surgeons shall visit their respective wards once at least every morning and evening ; and be prepared to report a state of the patients to the visiting physicians and surgeons. They shall see that the medicines sent to the sick are regularly taken, and that they are administered with care and neatness, and without delay.

3. No medicines, wine, or spirits, shall be prescribed or administered to the patients, nor any surgical operation performed, (except in cases of emergency,) without the special direction of the attending physicians or surgeons ; to whom such cases when they occur shall be immediately reported.

4. In any medical or surgical case of emergency, the house-physician and house-surgeon shall request the immediate attendance of the attending physician or surgeon, and if he cannot be found, of any other of the physicians or surgeons of the hospital.

5. They shall not remove patients from one ward into another, without the approbation of the superintendent.

6. It shall be their duty to report the disease, of which any patient dies, to the clerk, in order that the register may be regularly kept.

7. They shall report, in writing, to the superintendent, such patients as may, under special circumstances, have been received, during his absence, that he may lay the same before the visiting committee at their next meeting.

8. Neither the house-physician nor house-surgeon shall discharge a patient ; this being the exclusive duty of the superintendent.

9. They shall not be absent at the usual hours of attendance of the physicians and surgeons, and whenever either of them goes out, he shall leave notice with the superintendent or matron, where he may be found ; and in no case shall all of them be absent at the same time, except in attending the regular medical and surgical lectures given in this city, and for which purpose, permission must first be obtained from the board of governors. They must be in the Hospital at a seasonable hour in the evening, and never sleep out of the house.

10. They shall not engage in any other business than that of the Hospital, nor shall they practise out of the house.

11. It shall be the particular duty of the house physician to keep the electrical and galvanic apparatus always in perfect order, and faithfully to apply them when directed.

12. The house surgeon residing in the main building, shall have charge of all surgical instruments belonging to the house, and shall be responsible for them and for their good order. He shall keep an account of them, stating when, and from whom they were received, and their prices ; and shall never suffer them to be lent or used out of the house.

13. It shall be the particular duty of the house-physician or house-surgeon, (as the case may be medical or surgical,) to attend to the faithful application of the baths, at the temperature, and in the manner prescribed by the attending physician or surgeons.

CHAPTER XIII.

Of the Assistants to the House-Physician and House-Surgeons.

1. There shall be appointed every year, one senior, and ~~one~~ junior assistant, to the house physician ; and one senior, and one junior assistant, to each house-surgeon. The term of service of the assistants to the house-surgeons, shall be equally divided between the two surgical divisions of the Hospital, so that they shall serve six months in each, and pass from one division to the other, at the same time with the house-surgeons, respectively, to whom they are assistants. Every person to be appointed a senior assistant shall have walked the house one year as a junior, before he shall be eligible to the office of senior assistant, so that the assistant who may be so appointed, shall walk the house two years before he shall be eligible to the office of house-physician, or house-surgeon, as the case may be, and no person shall be appointed assistant to the house-physician, or to either of the house-surgeons, until he shall have laid before the governors a certificate. In the case of a candidate for the office of senior assistant as follows:

"We do hereby certify, that A. B. hath been a private pupil of C. D., a practising physician, (or surgeon, as the case may be,) for the space of three years, that he has passed his examination for a degree, or for a license, and that we believe him to be well qualified for a senior assistant to the house-physician, (or house-surgeon, as the case may be,) and we do recommend him to the governors for said office." And in the case of a candidate for the office of junior assistant:—"We do hereby certify, that A. B. hath been a private pupil of C. D., a practising physician, (or surgeon, as the case may be,) for two years, during which time he has attended the daily practice of the New-York Hospital for one year, and has attended one complete course of lectures in college—and we do further certify, that on the day of at a meeting held at the New-York Hospital, to which all the physicians (or surgeons, as the case may be,) of the hospital were invited, and at which we were present, we did examine the said A. B. that we believe him to be well qualified for a junior assistant to the house-physician, (or house-surgeon, as the case may be,) and we do recommend him to the governors for said office." Which certificate for senior and junior assistants, respectively, shall in each case be signed by at least two physicians of the hospital, if the candidate is recommended for the office of assistant to the house-physician, and by at least three surgeons of the hospital, if recommended for assistant to a house-surgeon.

2. The assistants shall respectively attend the house-physician and house-surgeon in their morning visits to the patients, and they shall also attend at the hospital at twelve o'clock, and at such other times as the attending physician or surgeon may direct, provided however that if the junior assistants shall be attending lectures, they may be excused by the visiting committee during the hours that lectures are delivered, from attending the house-physician or house-surgeon in their visits to the patients.

3. The senior assistant to the house-physician, shall, under the direction of the attending physician, keep a register of all medical cases which occur in the hospital, in books which shall be neatly bound, and kept in the library of the hospital. In this register shall be entered the name, age, and occupation of each patient, the probable cause and history of his disease, the remedies used before and after his admission, the name of the attending physician or surgeon, his daily reports on the case, the termination of the disease, either in recovery, relief, or death, and such other circumstances as may tend to illustrate the case, and the nature of the disease.

4. Each of the senior assistants to the house-surgeons, shall, under the directions of the surgeons attending on their respective divisions, keep a similar report of the chirurgical cases, in their respective divisions, and shall record all operations therein.

5. No such medical or surgical assistant, shall be eligible to the office of house-physician, or house-surgeon, unless he shall have kept the prescribed register to the satisfaction of the attending physicians and surgeons respectively, which shall be duly certified to the board of governors, by the physicians or surgeons before his election.

6. Such pupils as intend to be candidates for the office of assistants, must attend at the hospital daily, at the same hours with the attending physician and surgeon, and must be present at all operations performed by the surgeons.

Y. The senior assistant shall report to the board of governors the names of the pupils who are admitted to the hospital, and the names of the pupils who are expelled from the hospital, and the names of the pupils who are promoted to the office of assistant.

CHAPTER XIV.

Of Students admitted to see the Practice of the House.

1. Any student of medicine, upon paying to the treasurer ten dollars, shall receive a ticket entitling him to visit and see the practice of the house, for one year, subject to the regulations of the hospital, or, on the payment of six dollars, to the same privilege during the months of November, December, January, and February.

2. Any student of medicine, upon paying the sum of two dollars and fifty cents, shall be entitled to the use of the library for one year, subject to the regulations of the hospital for the time being.

3. Three students of each of the physicians and surgeons of the hospital, shall be entitled to receive from the treasurer, gratis, a ticket, admitting him to see the practice of the house, and to the use of the library for one year, on his producing to the treasurer a certificate from the physician or surgeon, stating that the student is regularly entered with him as a student for at least two years.

4. No student shall be entitled to visit the Bloomingdale Asylum, without leave from the physician of the asylum, or one of the asylum committee.

5. No student shall be entitled to attend the hospital, except at the hours of prescription or operation. Every student shall produce his ticket to the porter, at the gate, and shall behave with decorum and propriety. And if any student shall infringe any of the regulations of the hospital, or be guilty of profane swearing, or improper conduct, it shall be the duty of the superintendent to report him to the visiting committee, who may give orders to exclude him, in future, from the hospital. And that he may be informed of the regulations to which he is subject, every student shall be furnished by the treasurer with a copy of this by-law.

CHAPTER XV.

Of the Apothecary.

1. The apothecary shall compound and make up all medicines prescribed, agreeably to the formulæ from time to time directed by the physicians and surgeons of the hospital. He shall deliver no medicines which are not ordered by the attending physicians or surgeons, and shall permit no medicines to be carried out of the house, except to out-door patients. He shall put up the medicines intended for each ward separately, and shall annex to them labels, containing the names of the patients for whom they were respectively prescribed; and, when necessary, directions for taking them. And he shall send them to each ward by the orderly man, to be by him distributed to the patients.

2. He shall regularly attend the shop, and never be absent, without the superintendent's permission. He shall keep the shop, and every thing appertaining to it, clean and in perfect order. He shall carefully observe economy in every thing relating to his department; be particularly prudent and careful in the delivery of medicines, and permit no patient to enter the shop unnecessarily.

3. He shall cause all articles purchased for his department, to be immediately entered, by the persons of whom they are purchased, in a pass-book provided for that purpose, with the date, quantity, kind, and price of the articles.

4. He shall keep a book, in which the attending physician or surgeon shall enter his directions for the purchase of medicines, &c. with the date and quantity to be purchased, and signed with the initials of his name. And the apothecary shall purchase of the persons appointed for that purpose by the governors, and of none other, the articles so ordered; but he is strictly forbidden to purchase any thing, except in pursuance of such directions previously entered as aforesaid.

5. No person shall be appointed apothecary, unless he is twenty-one years of age, nor until he has produced sufficient testimonials of his good moral character, and has obtained a certificate, signed by at least two physicians and two surgeons of the hospital, in the following form:—

“We do hereby certify, that at a meeting held at the New-York hospital, on the day of 18 to which all the physicians and surgeons of the said hospital were invited, and at which we were present, we did examine A. B., and did find him competent to execute the office of apothecary of the said hospital. And we do recommend him to the governors for that office.”

6. The apothecary shall give a bond, in the penalty of two hundred and fifty dollars, for the faithful performance of the duties of his office, and that he will not cease to perform the duties, without giving two months' notice of his intention to leave his employment.

CHAPTER XVI.

Of the Superintendent or Steward.

1. The superintendent shall be the steward of the hospital. He shall have the general charge thereof; and see that the regulations of the governors, and the directions of the visiting committee are carried into effect.

2. He shall purchase, under the directions of the visiting committee or treasurer, fuel, provisions, and all other stores, for the use of the hospital, except medicines.

3. He shall keep, under his key, all wines, spirits, sugar, molasses, unmade linen, and blanketing, and all other stores and necessities.

4. He shall see that the outer-gates are locked at a seasonable hour every evening.

5. He shall suffer no patient to go out of the house, without his special permission.

6. He shall visit every ward at least once a day, and oftener, if necessary.

7. He shall have power to hire and dismiss all the nurses and servants employed in or about the hospital; subject, however, to such orders as the visiting committee shall think proper to give. And it shall be his duty to discharge all such of them as shall be guilty of profane swearing, drunkenness, bringing spirituous liquors clandestinely into the house, or other gross misconduct. And he is to report his proceedings on all these subjects to the visiting committee.

8. He shall take particular care that no wine or spirits are used in the hospital, except by the direction of the physicians or surgeons, for the use of the patients.

9. He shall cause the hospital to be completely white-washed every spring and autumn; and the walls of every ward to be white-washed four feet upwards from the floor, once in winter, and at least once in July, and in each of the two succeeding months.

10. He shall ~~when there is no chaplain in attendance,~~ appoint in each ward one of the most discreet patients to read the Bible to the other patients, and he shall see that it is read conformably to the regulations respecting patients; and where any patient is dangerously ill, he shall inquire, whether he is desirous to converse with any religious person; and shall invite the person desired by the patient to attend; and while such person is present, shall see that the other patients in the ward behave with decorum.

11. When a patient is discharged, the superintendent shall cause his name to be entered in the book provided for that purpose, mentioning him as cured, relieved, incurable, eloped, or disorderly.

12. On the decease of a patient, the superintendent shall cause his name, and the time of his decease, to be entered in the register, the body to be conveyed, as soon as conveniently may be, to the dead-house, and there safely kept, until delivered to the hearse, or to the friends of the deceased, for interment ; and he shall be particularly responsible for the execution of this duty.

13. If the house-physician, house-surgeon, clerk, ~~apothecary~~, students attending the house, or other persons belonging to it, shall use profane language, disregard the by-laws and regulations, or otherwise misbehave, it shall be the duty of the superintendent to report the offenders, in writing to the visiting committee.

14. When a patient dies, leaving clothes or other articles of value, the superintendent shall report the same to the visiting committee, who shall make a minute of such report in their book, and give him the necessary directions.

CHAPTER XVII.

Of the Matron.

1. The matron shall visit the wards in the Hospital, every day, and see that they are properly attended by the nurses.

2. She shall oversee all the female patients and servants, and take care that the wards, apartments, beds, clothes, linen, and other things are kept clean. All the patients, nurses, and servants must be obedient and submissive to her.

3. The female nurses must not be absent without leave of the matron.

4. She must take care of all the household goods and furniture.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Of the Clerk.

1. It shall be the duty of the clerk, on the day following each meeting of the governors, to enter in their journal, a fair copy of the minutes taken by the secretary, together with such reports and other papers, as the secretary shall direct.

2. He shall furnish the chairman of every committee appointed by the governors, with a copy of the minutes relating to their appointment, and he shall notify every person appointed on each of the standing committees, of their appointment.

3. He shall enter in the book for recording ordinances, all by-laws that may, from time to time, be passed by the governors; and such entry shall be made by him immediately after the passing of said by-law. He shall enter in the book for recording ordinances, all orders enjoining special duties to be performed by any of the standing committees, or by any of the officers or servants of the Hospital, which orders must be recorded in a part of said book separate from the by-laws.

4. He shall transcribe, under the direction of the secretary, such minutes of the governors, as may relate to the visiting committees into their book of minutes, and he shall copy all minutes of that committee on the day of their meeting; and shall enter in the register, kept for that purpose, the admissions and discharges of patients, immediately after they have been received or discharged.

5. He shall keep the books of accounts, and collect all monies due from the pay-patients, in such manner as the treasurer may direct.

6. He shall, every three months, furnish the secretary with the names of such seamen as die in the Hospital, to the end that they may be published.

7. He shall lay on the table, in the governor's room, at every monthly meeting, the following books, viz: the Journal or Minutes of the Governors; the Minutes of the Visiting Committee; the Minutes of the Inspecting Committee; the Minutes of the Bloomingdale Asylum Committee; the Book of By-laws; the Book containing the Minutes of the attendance of the Visiting Committee and of the Physicians and Surgeons; the Bank Book and the Leger.

8 He shall also have charge of the library & shall perform all the duties which belong to the office of a librarian & such by-laws as shall be made in relation to the library.

CHAPTER XIX.

Of the Orderly Man.

The visiting committee shall appoint an orderly-man, who shall assist in the apothecary's shop, in all things appertaining to that department. When not occupied in the apothecary's department, he shall perform any services for the benefit of the hospital, required of him by the superintendent, house-physician, and house-surgeon.

CHAPTER XX.

Of the Patients.

1. No patient shall leave the house, unless by permission of the superintendent; nor play at any game of hazard within the hospital; nor introduce any spirituous liquors into the house.

2. No patient shall enter the kitchen, or any of the servants' apartments, under any pretence whatever, except by order of the superintendent or matron.

3. No male patient shall go into the women's apartments, or wards, nor any female patient into those of the men.

4. No patient shall smoke tobacco in the house, except with the consent of the attending physician or surgeon.

5. Such patients as, in the opinion of the attending physician or surgeon, are able, shall assist in nursing others, washing and ironing the linen, washing and cleaning the rooms, and in such other services as the superintendent or matron may require.

6. When there is no chaplain in attendance to perform public worship, the Superintendent, on Sunday, at ten o'clock in the morning, and at three in the afternoon, shall appoint a suitable person for each ward, to read audibly some chapters in the bible to the patients, who are to attend thereto with decency and respect ; and it is also recommended to the patients, as often as circumstances will permit, to read the Holy Scriptures themselves on other days of the week.

7. If any patient shall not conform to the foregoing regulations ; or shall use profane or indecent language, or get drunk, or behave rudely, or indecently, the superintendent shall make report thereof to the visiting committee ; who may discharge such patient ; or, with the consent of ~~a governor~~, the superintendent may immediately discharge him.

8. No officer or servant of this institution, shall accept any gift or bequest from any patient, except with the approbation of the visiting committee.

XXI.

Of the Admission of Patients.

1. Any governor, physician, or surgeon of the Hospital may recommend patients to be admitted, but the visiting committee may refuse or admit patients so recommended, at their discretion.

2. In any extraordinary or pressing case, where great inconvenience would result from waiting for the approbation of the visiting committee, any governor, physician, or surgeon of the Hospital, may direct the superintendent to receive a patient immediately. And in case of sudden accidents, the superintendent may receive patients without recommendation. But the superintendent must give early information of every such case to the visiting committee, who may permit the patient to remain in the house, or not, as shall appear to them discreet and proper.

3. When the patient's case requires immediate admittance, the governor, physician, or surgeon recommending him, is to add to his recommendation the following directions : "The superintendent is desired to receive the person above recommended, until the visiting committee attend."

4. Inhabitants of the state, not resident in the city of New-York, to be admitted into the Hospital, must be recommended by a justice of the peace, ~~and at least one overseer~~ of the poor of the town in which they reside: and they must bring with them cases of their diseases drawn up by a physician or surgeon.

5. No persons shall be admitted whose cases are judged to be incurable, nor any whose cases do not require the particular benefits of an hospital; nor shall any who have the small pox, or measles, be received into the house.

6. Young children shall not be received with their mothers, unless such children are also patients. unless vaccinated by the

7. Patients unable to pay for their board and maintenance, may be received as paupers; but such as are able to pay for the same, in part or in whole, shall be received as pay-patients, on such terms as may be agreed on by the visiting committee, who are to take sufficient security for their performance.

8. The applicants must attend at the Hospital, on Tuesday or Friday, in order to be examined by the attending physician or surgeon.

Form of Recommendation.

clothing while there ; to pay to the Treasurer of the said Hospital per week for board during continuance there, to cause to be removed when discharged, and to pay the expense of burial, if die there. Witness my hand the day of 18

9. Nothing in this chapter shall apply to the admission of insane patients.

CHAPTER XXII.

Of the Library.

1. Before the librarian enters on the execution of his office, he shall give sufficient security, to be approved of by the visiting committee, in a sum not less than two hundred and fifty dollars, that he will indemnify this corporation for any loss or damage which may be sustained by his negligence or misconduct as librarian.

2. The librarian shall keep every work in the library, plainly numbered on a label on the back, and also on the inside of every volume ; and he shall cause to be written or printed on the title page of each volume, "The Property of the ~~New York~~ State Hospital."

3. He shall keep an accurate catalogue of the books in the library, containing the title, author, size, number, and number of volumes of each work. He shall keep a book containing printed receipts ; and every person who shall borrow a book from the library, shall sign a receipt for the same.

4. The librarian shall annually account for the library, to the library committee, and shall at the same time report to the committee an account of all books then out of the library, to whom and when they were lent.

5. Books shall be taken from the library on such days only, as the library committee shall direct ; and at hours not interfering with the visiting committee, or the attending physician or surgeon : but a governor, physician or surgeon of the Hospital, may borrow books from the library at any time.

6. Books may be loaned from the library, only to the governors ; to the physicians and surgeons ; to their private pupils, subject to the regulations and restrictions contained in the ninth section ; to the house-physician, house-surgeon, ~~apothecary~~, and other officers of the Hospital ; to those physicians and surgeons who may have formerly been physicians or surgeons to the establishment ; to those who may have served in the Hospital, in the capacity of house-physician or house-surgeon for ~~six~~ months, to the satisfaction of the governors, on the conditions and under the regulations directed in the ninth section ; to persons to whom the privilege has been especially granted by the governors ; and to those who shall acquire it in the manner prescribed in the next succeeding section. Every other person admitted to the use of the library, not being a student of medicine, shall pay to the treasurer ~~five~~ dollars, for which he shall receive a ticket expressing that he is entitled to the use of the library for one year.

7. Every person who shall make a donation to the library, of books on medicine, surgery, or such subjects as are connected with medicine and surgery (to be approved of by the library committee) to the amount of twenty-five dollars, or who shall pay to the treasurer the same amount in money, shall be entitled to the use of the library, under the regulations provided as to students.

8. Of voluminous collections of distinct books or papers, no person shall be allowed to have out more than one volume, at one time ; nor shall any person, except a governor, physician, or surgeon of the Hospital, take out more than a single volume, at one time, of any kind.

9. No student shall take out any book, without previously depositing with the librarian, a sum of money, amounting at least, to one third more than the value of the whole work to which the volume belongs : but a student may be relieved from the necessity of making such a deposit, by leaving with the librarian, an engagement signed by some respectable, permanent resident in the city, in the following form :

" A. B., being permitted to use the library belonging to the Society of the New-York Hospital, I do hereby promise to pay to the treasurer of the said Society, all such fines and forfeitures, as the said A. B. may become liable to, by virtue of the by-laws and ordinances of the said society relating to the library.

" Dated the day 18 ."

10. With respect to the following works, viz : Medical Commentaries and Annals of Medicine ; Physical Essays of Edinburgh ; Medical Observations and Inquiries of London ; all Memoirs of Medical or Philosophical Societies, Journals, Repositories, Reviews, and Magazines ; and all such other works as the library committee shall direct, when a deposit is to be made, its amount shall be five dollars for one octavo volume, and ten dollars for a quarto.

11. A folio may be kept out four weeks ; a quarto, three weeks ; an octavo or duodecimo, two weeks ; and if any volume is detained longer, the person who took it out shall pay a weekly fine of twenty-five cents for every week beyond the time above specified, until it is returned.

12. If a book shall not be returned within three months, it shall be considered as lost, and the person who took it out shall forfeit his deposit if he has made any ; and if not, then a sum equal to what the deposit would have amounted to, if any had been made.

13. If any person shall lose one or more volumes of any set of books, he may give to the library a new set equally good with the former ; and shall thereupon receive the remainder of the broken set ; but unless he immediately does this, he shall incur the forfeiture mentioned in the last foregoing section, and the imperfect set shall be retained.

14. The books maked thus * in the catalogue, shall be read in the library alone ; and students may be admitted into the library to peruse those books, but on no other account whatever. The register of cases, or any other manuscript books, are not to be taken out of the library, without the special permission of the governors.

15. When any book is damaged, the librarian shall report the fact to the library committee, who shall determine the fine to be paid by the borrower.

16. Every person, who shall refuse or neglect to conform to the regulations contained in this chapter, may be refused the further use of the library, by the library or visiting committee.

17. When any misunderstanding takes place on the subjects provided for in this chapter, it shall be decided by the library or visiting committee.

18. All fines and forfeitures imposed in this chapter, are appropriated to the use of the library. The librarian is to collect and pay them over to the library committee, to whom he is also to render an account every month, of such as have been incurred.

CHAPTER XXIII.

BLOOMINGDALE ASYLUM FOR THE INSANE.

1. The Bloomingdale Asylum Committee shall consist of six Governors of the New-York Hospital, not more than four of whom, shall be re-eligible, at the election at the stated meeting of the board, in June.

2. The Asylum Committee shall have charge of the Bloomingdale estate, and of all its buildings and appurtenances, subject always, however, to the orders, rules and regulations of the Board of Governors, every member of which may at all times visit and inspect the establishment, and examine all the books, documents and proceedings of the Committee.

3. The Asylum Committee are authorized to make such rules and regulations as they may judge proper for their own government, and for the better government of the establishment, its officers, servants and patients. Provided such rules and regulations be not inconsistent with the charter of this corporation, or with the rules and regulations hereby established, or which may, at any time, hereafter be established by the Board of Governors. And the said Board may, at any of its stated meetings, alter, or repeal any rule or regulation made by the Asylum Committee, provided one month's notice of such alteration or repeal shall have been given by the member intending to submit the same.

4. The Asylum Committee shall meet at least once a month at the Asylum, on a stated day, to be fixed by their own regulations ; and two of the members, to be called the "Weekly Committee," shall attend at the Asylum at least once a week. The Asylum Committee shall make such arrangements among themselves, as that one new member shall be put on the weekly committee the first week in every month.

5. The Weekly Committee, at each visitation, shall make a thorough examination of each house and see every patient ; and shall make a report of their having done so ; which report shall be noted in the book of minutes of the Asylum Committee.

6. Any member of the Asylum Committee shall receive or reject applications for admission into the Asylum as in his discretion he shall think advisable. He shall make agreements for the terms on which patients shall be received, and take a money deposit or security for the performance thereof, in the form and manner prescribed by the Asylum Committee.

7. Patients shall be discharged, only, under the order of the Weekly Committee or Asylum Committee ; who shall adopt such regulations as shall prevent the discharge of any patient without the due notice to friends, or provision made for a safe return to them, or a conveyance to the Alms House, in all cases where such precaution may be deemed necessary.

8. The Asylum Committee shall, at each monthly meeting examine the accounts of the institution. They shall keep a book of minutes of their proceedings, and shall cause proper books of accounts to be kept of all the receipts and expenditures. They shall also cause to be kept at the Asylum, books in which shall be noted the names of the patients admitted and discharged, and the attendance of the members at the weekly and monthly meetings.

9. The Asylum Committee shall not, in any one month, expend more than one hundred dollars in repairs or for improvements, without a special order of the Board of Governors.

10. They shall draw orders, signed by the Chairman, or in his absence by one of the committee, on the treasurer of the Hospital, in favor of the Warden, for such sums as may be necessary for the current expenses of the institution.

11. The Asylum Committee shall appoint one of its members to be their secretary, who shall keep the minutes of the meetings of the Committee. He shall also provide all the necessary books for the establishment, and see that they are kept agreeable to these regulations.

12. It shall be the duty of the Asylum Committee to provide, at an expense not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars per annum, a Clergyman of respectable standing, to perform religious services in the Asylum once every Sabbath ; at which all persons residing on the premises may attend, excepting only such patients as, in the opinion of the Resident Physician, would not be benefited thereby.

13. The Asylum Committee shall set apart for the use of the patients, a suitable apartment in the building for a Reading Room and Library ; and shall procure such books, periodical publications and newspapers, as may be considered serviceable for them ; but the yearly disbursements for these objects shall not exceed seventy-five dollars.

Of the Resident Physician.

1. There shall be appointed annually by the Board of Governors, at the regular meeting in the month of June, a physician, to be called the Resident Physician of the Asylum.

2. He shall reside in the Asylum, and devote the whole of his time, without any other employment, to the duties of his appointment : nor shall he unnecessarily absent himself from the house, and, in no case, be absent a night, without the consent of the Committee.

3. He shall be the superior officer of the institution, and shall have charge of all articles belonging to the medical department ; he shall make a suitable classification of the patients, and be accountable for both their medical and moral treatment ; the latter, however, subject to the supervision of the Asylum Committee.

4. He shall endeavor to procure a history of the malady of every patient, including its origin, progress and treatment to the time of admission. This statement, with any circumstances or peculiarities tending to elucidate the case, he shall record in a register to be kept in the Asylum for that purpose. The treatment pursued after admission in each case, with the result, shall afterwards be added. It shall further be his duty to record at length in another register all remarkable cases, and to deposit the same in the Asylum library.

5. He shall, at each monthly meeting of the Asylum Committee, report in writing the number of patients admitted and discharged during the preceding month, and also a general statement of their cases. And, at the expiration of each year, he shall furnish a summary statement of all patients received, discharged, recovered, or who have died since the last annual report.

6. He shall direct what medicines are to be provided for the use of the establishment, and present a list of those wanted to the Asylum Committee, which list shall be entered in a book kept for the purpose.

7. He shall also have the authority, under the direction of the Asylum Committee, and under such regulations as they shall prescribe, to hire or discharge all the attendants on the patients ; that is, all persons directly employed in the management of them.

Of the Warden.

1. The Warden shall be appointed annually by the Board of Governors at the monthly meeting in June, but may be removed at any time : he shall act as steward of the house, and, under the direction and supervision of the Asylum Committee, shall have charge and custody of the buildings and furniture, as also, of the farm, farmhouses, garden, green house, and other property on the premises.

2. He shall purchase under the direction of the Weekly Committee, fuel, provisions, and all other stores, (except medicine) for the use of the Asylum : for which purpose he shall receive from time to time, such sums as the Asylum Committee may think necessary.

3. He shall have authority, under the direction and control of the Asylum Committee, to hire and discharge an assistant steward, and all other servants employed in and about the Asylum, or on the premises, except the attendants on the patients ; but he shall not give higher wages than may be established by the Asylum Committee for their respective employments, without the consent of the Weekly Committee.

4. He shall report at each meeting of the Weekly Committee, the name of each patient received, discharged, escaped, or deceased. And he shall keep a book in such form as the Secretary of the Asylum Committee shall direct ; in which he shall make the like entries respecting the patients ; also of the pay agreed for, and the names and residence of the sureties for payment.

5. He shall also keep accounts of all his expenditures and receipts ; and shall furnish to the Asylum Committee at their monthly meeting for June, September, December, and March, an abstract shewing all balances then due the Asylum ; he shall likewise furnish from time to time, a separate statement of the expenditures on the farm and garden, and of the produce thereof.

6. He shall use his best endeavors to carry into effect the general system of moral treatment, as laid down by the Resident Physician, and attend, in all things to the directions of the Asylum Committee. He shall also visit, at least once in each day, all rooms occupied by male patients, and particularly attend to the cleanliness of those patients, their galleries, apartments, beds, and other things about the establishment.

Of the Matron.

1. The Matron shall be appointed, and may be removed in like manner with the Warden. She is to consider herself bound by all rules and regulations regarding the Warden, which may be applicable to her department.

2. She will devote her whole time to the affairs of the institution : the first object of her care will be the moral treatment and comfort of the female patients, and she is not to be absent from the house during the absence of the Warden.

3. She is to consider herself especially responsible for the cleanliness of the female side of the house, for the management of the kitchen, and for the care of the household goods, furniture, and linen.

4. She is to inspect all the female departments, and see each female patient at least once every day, and as much oftener as occasion may require.

Of the Patients.

1. Pay patients only shall be received into the Asylum except by express direction of the Board of Governors. Paupers from any part of the State shall be admitted at the lowest rate for which they can be supported, on the order of the Overseers of the poor whence they are sent ; which order shall be held as security for the maintenance of such pauper. All other classes shall be received on such terms as may be agreed on, but for a period not less than thirteen weeks : and the payment for this period shall be made in advance ; and no part thereof shall be refunded, should the patient be removed within the said time, unless by the express direction of the Asylum Committee. The Weekly Committee may, in special cases, accept a bond with competent sureties in lieu of the advance required.

2. All patients shall be subject to such rules and regulations as the Asylum Committee may establish respecting them.

Of Visitors.

Visitors shall not be admitted into the Bloomingdale Asylum, or on the grounds, without a written permit from one of the Governors ; nor be permitted to see any patient without the consent of the resident physician.

CHAPTER XXIV.

Of Ordinances and Resolutions.

1. All ordinances shall be copied in a book provided for that purpose, and each ordinance so copied shall have the seal of the corporation affixed thereto, and signed by the secretary.

2. All resolutions making alterations in any of the existing by-laws, or any new by-law that may be passed, shall be put in the form of an ordinance, and all such ordinances shall be copied in the book of ordinances.

3. No alteration or amendment shall be made to the by-laws, without notice thereof being given at least one month.

AN ACCOUNT OF THE
NEW-YORK HOSPITAL.

IN the year 1770, some of the most respectable and public spirited inhabitants of the city of New-York subscribed considerable sums of money, for the purpose of erecting and establishing a public Hospital; and a petition was presented by Peter Middleton, John Jones, and Samuel Bard,* three eminent physicians, to Lieutenant Governor Colden, then commander-in-chief of the province of New-York, for a charter of incorporation, which was, in consequence, granted the following year, by the Earl of Dunmore, Governor and commander-in-chief of the province.

By this charter, dated the 13th of June, 1771, the mayor, recorder, aldermen and assistants, of the city of New-York, the rector of Trinity Church, the different ministers of the several other city churches, the president of King's (now Columbia) College, and a number of the principal and most respectable inhabitants of the city, were named as members, and incorporated, by the name of the "Society of the Hospital in the city of New-York in America."† Twenty-six governors were also named, for the management of the affairs and business of the institution, who held their first meeting on the 25th of July, 1771.

* From the following extract from a medical discourse, delivered by Dr. Middleton, in King's (now Columbia) College, on the 3d of November, 1769, it appears that the first suggestion relative to the establishment of a Hospital, was made by Dr. Bard. "The necessity and usefulness," says Dr. Middleton, "of a public infirmary, has been so warmly and pathetically set forth, in a discourse delivered by Dr. Samuel Bard, at the college commencement, in May last, that his excellency, Sir Henry Moore, immediately set on foot a subscription for that purpose, to which himself, and most of the gentlemen present, liberally contributed. His excellency also recommended it, in the most pressing manner, to the assembly of the province, as an object worthy of their attention; and the corporation of the city have given assurances of granting a very valuable and commodious lot of ground for erecting the building upon; so that there is now almost a certain prospect of this benevolent and humane foundation soon taking place: and as it is to be on the most catholic and unexceptionable plan, it is to be hoped, that it will meet with the countenance and encouragement of every compassionate and good member of society, whatever party or denomination he may choose to be distinguished by on other occasions."

† By an act of the legislature, passed March 9th, 1810, the name of the corporation has been changed to that of "The Society of the New-York Hospital."

Through the influence of Dr. John Fothergill and Sir William Duncan, considerable contributions were made to the Society, by many inhabitants of the city of London, and other places in Great Britain, and in 1772, the legislature of the province of New-York granted an annual allowance of 800 pounds (2,000 dollars) in aid of the institution, for twenty years.

In 1773, the governors of the Hospital purchased of Mrs. Barclay and Mr. Rutgers, five acres of ground, for the erection of a suitable edifice. A plan of a building having been procured by Dr. Jones, the foundation was laid, the 27th of July, 1773; but on the 28th of February, 1775, when it was almost completed, the building accidentally took fire and was nearly consumed.

By this misfortune the society suffered a loss of seven thousand pounds; and the execution of their benevolent plan would have been wholly suspended, had not the legislature, in March 1775, generously granted them the sum of 4000 pounds towards rebuilding the house, and repairing the loss they had sustained. But the war between Great Britain and the colonies, which took place in the same year, prevented the completion of the edifice. During the war, the house was occupied by British and Hessian soldiers as barracks, and occasionally as an hospital.

The effects of the war on the circumstances of our citizens, and the general derangement of affairs, prevented any attention to the institution, and it was not until the 3d of January, 1791, that the house was in proper condition to receive patients, when eighteen were admitted.

The annuity granted by the provincial legislature, ceased with the commencement of hostilities between Great Britain and the colonies; but the legislature of the state, on the 1st of March 1788, directed eight hundred pounds, during four years, from the 1st February, 1788, to be paid to the Hospital, out of the moneys arising from the excise in the city of New-York. The legislature, by a subsequent act, passed the 11th April, 1792, for the better support of the Hospital, granted two thousand pounds a year, for five years, payable out of the city excise.

By an act passed the 31st of March, 1795, the legislature repealed the act of the 11th April, 1792, as to future payments, and granted to the Hospital four thousand pounds annually for five years, payable out of the duties on sales at public auction, in the city of New-York. An additional sum of one thousand pounds a year, for four years, was granted 11th April, 1796, payable out of the same fund. And on the 20th March, 1801, the annual allowance of $12,500 was continued for five years from the first of February, 1800. On the 2d March, 1805, an act was passed continuing this sum for five years longer. In consequence of the representation of the governors, of the necessity of providing more suitable apartments for lunatics, the legislature, on the 14th of March, 1806, passed an act, directing the sum of 12,500 dollars annually to be paid out of the duties on sales at auction, to the treasurer of the Hospital, in quarterly payments, until the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven ; and the act of the 2d March, 1805, was at the same time repealed.

By an act passed the 30th March, 1797, for the establishment and support of a lazaretto, the masters and wardens of the port of New-York were authorized to receive of the masters, officers, seamen, and passengers, of every vessel entering the port of New-York, a certain sum for each person, which was directed to be paid to the commissioners of the health office, for the relief of sick seamen and foreigners admitted into the lazaretto ; and the surplus, if any, was directed to be paid to such seamen and foreigners as might be patients in the Hospital.

By an act passed April 1st, 1796, for regulating the port of New-York, the Harbour Master was directed to pay certain fines therein mentioned, to the treasurer of the New-York Hospital.

By an arrangement between the treasury department of the United States and the Hospital, made in 1799, the sick and disabled seamen at the port of New-York, are received into the Hospital, and enjoy all its advantages. The collector of the port, under the direction of the Secretary of the treasury of the United States, pays out of the Hospital money collected and received by him, three dollars per week, for the board and maintenance of such seamen, with medicine and other charges.

But the collector, since July, 1804, has refused to pay for more than a limited number at any time. The governors, however, considering every seaman who has paid hospital money to the collector of the United States as having a just claim on the government of the United States for hospital relief, have not hitherto refused admittance to seamen, beyond the number limited ; trusting to the justice of the national legislature for remuneration of the sums expended in the support of such seamen, beyond the amount received from the collector. Without the aid which has thus been afforded to them, many of this useful and meritorious, though careless and improvident class of men, must have been abandoned, in disease and poverty, to the casual and precarious relief of common charity.

In 1801, an agreement was made between the New-York Hospital, and the Governors of the Lying-in Hospital, by which the existing funds of the latter were to be paid to the use of the former institution, on condition that a lying-in ward should be established ; and a suitable ward for that purpose was accordingly fitted up, and opened for the reception of patients.

In consequence of the recommendation of the medical faculty of Columbia College, the Governors of the Hospital, in August, 1796, appropriated the sum of five hundred dollars towards the purchase of a Medical Library ; to which the members of that faculty contributed books from their private libraries, and part of their fees of public instruction. An hospital library was thus established, which was further augmented by the purchase of the medical library of the late Dr. Romayne in 1800, and by the accession, in 1805, of the library of a private association of physicians, under the name of the Medical Society of New-York, who gave their books on condition that they and such of their sons as should become practitioners of medicine in the city of New-York, should have free use of the Hospital Library. In 1805, the Governors appropriated the annual sum of two hundred and fifty dollars for the purchase of books ; and large additions have been made to it, by purchases and donations from time to time, so that, including the valuable Botanical Library of Dr. Hosack, purchased by the Hospital, the library now contains about 4000 volumes, among which are some of the rarest and most splendid works in Medical Science.

At present the library depends for its support and increase on the proceeds arising from the sale of tickets to students of medicine, which permits them to see the practice of the house, and to take books from the library. The monies thus accruing are appropriated to the purchase of such medical and scientific publications as may be designated by the Library Committee, to the payment of the librarian's salary, and sundry contingencies.

The price of tickets is ten dollars per annum, or six dollars for the privileges above specified, during the months of November, December, January, and February, that is, during the season of medical lectures. Tickets are also issued for the use of the library alone for five dollars the year, and each consulting physician, and each attending physician or surgeon, has the privilege of admitting three of his own students to see the practice of the house, and to the use of the library gratis.

The annual average expenditures and receipts on account of the purchased books are now from four to five hundred dollars.

As there existed no institution in the State, for the reception and cure of the insane, the Governors were induced to appropriate apartments in the Hospital for patients of that description ; but as the building was not designed for that purpose, the accommodations were found to be extremely inconvenient and inadequate ; and the applications for the admission of insane persons, constantly increasing, it was resolved in 1806, that if the legislature would lend its aid for that purpose, by further contribution, or by giving greater permanence to the existing allowance, to erect a separate building, to be exclusively appropriated to the reception of that unfortunate class of persons.

An application was accordingly made to the legislature, who passed an act, on the 14th March, 1806, continuing an annual provision for the Hospital, payable out of the duties on sales at auction, in the city of New-York until the year 1857. The Governors immediately proceeded to lay the foundation of the proposed edifice, denominated the "Lunatic Asylum," which was completed, so as to be opened for the reception of patients on the 15th July, 1808, when nineteen were removed from the other building, and forty-eight more admitted, making the whole sixty-seven. The whole cost of the Asylum was about fifty-six thousand dollars.

To assist the Governors to discharge the debts contracted in building the Asylum, the Legislature, by an act passed the 23d of March, 1801, granted to the hospital the sum of $3,500 per annum for ten years, payable quarterly, out of the duties on goods sold at auction in the city of New-York. But by the fifth section of "the act respecting a navigable communication between the great western and northern lakes and the Atlantic Ocean," passed the 15th of April, 1817, the Hospital was deprived of this allowance.

In 1815, in consequence of a communication sent to the governors of the hospital by one of the members, the late venerable and philanthropic Thomas Eddy, showing the advantages that might be produced by introducing a course of moral treatment for the lunatic patients, more extensive than had hitherto been practised in this country, and similar to that pursued at "The Retreat," near York in England; and proposing that a number of acres of ground near the city should be purchased, and suitable buildings erected for the purpose;* a committee was appointed by the Governors to consider of the plan proposed, and to report their opinion thereon. This committee, having approved of the plan, and recommended its adoption, the Governors resolved to carry it into effect, if they could obtain the aid of the Legislature. Application having been made for that purpose, an act was passed the 17th April, 1816, granting to the hospital the yearly sum of $10,000, until the year 1857, to enable the Governors to erect further and more extensive accommodations for insane patients. Thirty-nine acres of land, on the Harlem Heights, about seven miles from the city, were accordingly purchased, at $240 per acre, as a site for the proposed institution. The distance being thought by some to be greater than was desirable, twenty acres of ground on the East river, two miles nearer the settled parts of the city, were purchased; but after a more particular examination, it was found not to be adapted, in all respects to the plan contemplated; and it was afterwards sold at a profit of two thousand dollars. After again inspecting the different places on York Island, and on the opposite side of the East river, which were supposed to afford suitable situations for such an establishment, it was determined, on a comparison of them with the one already purchased at Harlem, that the latter was, on the whole, preferable. On exploring the ground, however, for the purpose of laying the foundation of the intended building, the soil was discovered to be generally wet, covering a stratum of hard granite, lying about two feet below the surface; it was, therefore, deemed unfit for the purpose. Another piece of ground, not far from the same spot, and nearer to the Hudson, containing about twenty-six acres, fronting on the Bloomington road, near the seven milestone, after being thoroughly explored, was found to be remarkably dry and pleasant, and from its elevated situation, affording an extensive and delightful view of the river and the adjacent country. This place was purchased at five hundred dollars per acre, and some small pieces of ground adjoining have since been added, making the whole quantity about eighty acres. On this spot the corner-stone of a building for the accommodation of insane patients was laid, on the 7th day of May, 1818. From the various plans of an edifice, which were laid before them, the Governors selected one that appeared to be the most eligible; but on further consideration, it was laid aside, as being far too expensive, and not perfectly calculated to carry into effect the design of the proposed establishment. At the request of the Governors, several plans were drawn by a member of the board,* one of which, as being the least costly, and most consonant to their views, was adopted. This plan comprehends a centre building, and is 211 feet in length and 60 deep, with two wings, each placed at a distance from the principal building.

Towards the close of the year 1820, the main edifice was completed, and was opened for the accommodation of patients in the month of June, 1821, when it received the name of the "Bloomingdale Asylum." In 1830, a wing wholly detached from the main building, and used for more violent insane male patients, was added; and in 1837, an additional building was erected for the use of the females of the same class, at an expense of near $20,000; making the cost of all the buildings and improvements, up to the 1st of January, 1839, about $200,000, including bedding, furniture, and other things necessary for the accommodation of its inmates.

In order to meet these heavy expenditures, the Governors of the Hospital were under the necessity of borrowing $137,000 on bond and mortgage, at an interest of six per cent., payable quarterly. And sundry further sums were also borrowed at different times from the banks. The surplus of the annuity granted by the Legislature for this purpose, beyond what is consumed in the payment of interest, has been set apart as a sinking fund to redeem this debt, and confided to the care of a committee of the Governors, styled the "Commissioners of the Sinking Fund of the New-York Hospital." The sum borrowed of the banks has been repaid, and the sinking fund invested in shares of Bank of America stock, in certificates of the New-York Life Insurance and Trust Company, and in bonds and mortgages, and amounted, on the 31st of December, 1838, to $111,000.

In the summer of 1821, the patients were transferred from the Insane Hospital in town to the Asylum erected at Bloomingdale. The former, in 1825, after undergoing a thorough alteration, was converted into an extremely convenient and comfortable hospital for the accommodation of sick and disabled seamen, to whose benefit it has ever since been exclusively appropriated under the name of the "Marine Department of the New-York Hospital."

The affairs of the Hospital are under the management of twenty-six Governors, who meet on the first Tuesday in every month at the Hospital: their services are gratuitous.

Persons laboring under incurable ailments, or diseases of any kind, are not admitted into the Hospital, being regarded as fitter objects for the Alms House; and because their admission might, after a time, defeat the very purpose of the institution, which is intended as an infirmary for the reception and cure of such as require medical or sur- gical treatment, uncommon diseases and accidents, and the restraint and management requisite for lunacy. Sick women, who have young children, are not received with their children, unless the child as well as the mother is a proper patient. Persons having the small-pox, measles, or any infectious or contagious disease, are not admitted into the Hospital.

Every applicant for admission must bring with him a recommendation from one of the Governors, or a physician or surgeon of the Hospital, except in behalf of the insane, when the application must be made to the committee of the Insane Asylum. In cases of sudden accidents, patients may be received by the superintendent without a recommendation, until the next meeting of the Visiting Committee, who decide on the propriety of the patient's remaining in the house. A Governor, physician, or surgeon may also give a special recommendation in cases requiring the immediate admission of a patient.

A Visiting Committee, consisting of three Governors, attend the Hospital on Tuesday and Friday in every week, at 11 o'clock in the morning, for the purpose of admitting patients, who are previously examined by one of the attending physicians or surgeons, or by the house physician or house surgeon. Such persons as are unable to pay for their board and maintenance are received as paupers; but such as are able to pay, in part or in whole, are admitted as pay-patients on such terms as may be agreed on by the Visiting Committee, who take security for the performance. This committee have the general care and charge of the Hospital, receive all applications or complaints, and direct all the officers and servants in the discharge of their respective duties.

There is also an Inspecting Committee, consisting of two Governors, who visit the Hospital at least once a week, to inquire whether the by-laws and regulations relative to the management and economy of the house are duly observed and carried into effect; and particularly to examine into the conduct of the officers, servants, and nurses, to see that the patients have not been neglected, and to hear their complaints, and to report them, with their observations, to the Governors at their next meeting.

It is also the duty of the President and Vice-President of the Hospital to visit and inspect the house once in every month, and to report to the Governors at the ensuing monthly meeting.

There are four physicians and six surgeons who attend the hospital. They are selected from the most eminent of the profession, and annually appointed by the Governors. One physician is required to visit every medical patient, affected with any acute disease, at least once a day, and oftener, if necessary; and every medical patient without distinction, must be visited, at least three times a week. Two surgeons must visit the Hospital, at least three times a week, and every surgical patient, once a week. The physicians and surgeons perform these services gratis. The incidental advantages of such an appointment, in regard to their profession, afford them some remuneration.

There are also a House Physician and two House Surgeons, residing constantly in the Hospital, who are appointed for one year. They are generally young men; and the qualifications required are that they shall have attained twenty-one years of age, have been pupils of a practising physician or surgeon for three years, during which time they must have attended a complete course of lectures in one of the colleges, have attended the daily practice of the Hospital for one year, have passed their examination for a degree or for a license, have been examined and recommended by the physicians and surgeons, and produce satisfactory testimonials of their good moral character.

An apothecary, who resides in the house, is appointed by the Governors, and must be examined and recommended by the physicians and surgeons, and produce satisfactory testimonials of his good character, before he is admitted. He has the charge of the apothecary's shop, and compounds and makes up all medicines prescribed, according to the directions of the physicians and surgeons. The house physician and house surgeons are required to visit the wards, at least every morning and evening, and to be prepared to report the state of the patients to the attending physicians and surgeons; and they must see that the medicines prescribed are sent to the patients, and duly administered.

The superintendent, who is the steward of the hospital, and the matron are charged with the domestic management and economy of the institution, and an assistant to the superintendent aids in the management of the marine department.

The ground on which the Hospital stands, is an area, about 455 feet in length, and 440 feet in breadth; bounded in front on Broadway, in the rear on Church-street, northerly on Anthony-street, and southerly on Duane-street. Part of this area, fronting on Broadway, is at present owned and occupied by individuals, leaving an avenue of about 90 feet, leading from Broadway, which is planted with a double row of trees.

The ground belonging to the Hospital, was enclosed with a brick wall in 1801.

The site of the Hospital is elevated, being considerably above the level of Church-street, and about 600 yards distant from the Hudson river. It is one of the most open and airy situations in the city; and possesses great advantages for the enjoyment of fresh and salubrious breezes.

The principal building, denominated the Hospital, is of gray stone, and in the simple Doric style. It extends in front, 124 feet, is 50 feet deep in the centre, and 86 feet deep at the wings, which project on each side. It consists of three stories above the basement; a third story having been added in 1803, when it became necessary to put on a new roof. The height above the ground, is about 52 feet. The basement story, which is about ten feet high, contains a larger and a smaller kitchen, a laundry, bathing room, three store-rooms, and two wards, fitted up for the temporary accommodation of patients whose particular disease renders it necessary to remove them from intercourse with others. The principal story is about 14 feet high. In the centre is a hall and staircase, a room for the Governors, which contains the library, a parlor and bed-room for the superintendent and matron, an apothecary's shop, and a room for the clerk. In each story of each wing, are two wards, 36 feet in length, and 24 feet in breadth, opposite to each other, and opening into passages, extending from one end of the house to the other, and communicating by a staircase. On the second and third floors of the centre, are rooms for the accommodation of the house physician, house surgeon, apothecary, and different officers and servants; in the second story, on the westerly side, is a large room set apart as a consulting room for the physicians and surgeons and for a reading-room, where are deposited such books as are more frequently in demand by students attending the Hospital; (the most costly books of reference and those more rarely used, filling the cases of the apartment used for a library and the meetings of the governors;) and in the third story looking to the north-west, is the theatre for surgical operations, fitted up so as to accommodate about two hundred persons. It is well lighted by a large window in the pediment, which has been substituted for a skylight in the roof, by request of the surgeons. This building contains 15 wards for the sick, 13 of which are each 36 feet long and 24 feet broad, in which about 150 patients may be comfortably accommodated. There are about 20 other rooms, of different dimensions, besides the consultation room and theatre for surgical operations.

During the autumn of 1829, the wings of the Hospital were considerably extended, and the additional space thus gained was converted into nurses' rooms, apartments for baths, and water closets; a freer ventilation was also greatly promoted by enlarging the windows in the northern and southern extremities of the building, &c., for which and sundry other repairs, the sum of $7128 was expended.

The edifice is crowned with a handsome cupola, which affords a most extensive and picturesque view of the city, harbour, and adjacent country. There is an excellent kitchen-garden; and the grounds are laid out in walks, planted with fruit and ornamental trees, for the benefit of convalescent patients. There is also a large and well-constructed ice-house, a bathing house, and convenient stables.

The building denominated the Marine Department, is also of gray stone. It is situated on the southerly side of the ground at a short distance from the principal building, and corresponding with it, in its exterior appearance, and style of architecture.

This building, on account of the declivity of the ground, has a sub-basement, besides a basement and two principal stories. Its length is 90 feet, it is 40 feet deep in the centre, and 65 feet at the wings, which project $12\frac{1}{2}$ feet on each side. The sub-basement contains 10 rooms, 11 feet long, and $8\frac{1}{2}$ feet wide, and 9 feet high; 3 rooms, $16\frac{1}{2}$ feet long, and $11\frac{1}{2}$ feet wide, and a kitchen $28\frac{1}{2}$ feet long and $16\frac{1}{2}$ feet wide. There is a hall running through the centre, from one end to the other, into which the doors of the rooms or cells open, opposite to the windows. All the rooms or cells, except the four largest, and those in the upper story, are arched with brick, and the walls are also brick, white washed ; so that there is no wood, and the floors being filled with brick, the building is completely fire-proof ; and the patients, while they have sufficient heat in the winter season, cannot possibly set fire to any part of the building. The basement story contains the same number of rooms, and of the same size with those in the sub-basement. In each of the two principal stories, are also ten rooms, 11 feet long, and $8\frac{1}{2}$ feet wide, two rooms, 17 feet long, and $11\frac{1}{4}$ feet wide, and two rooms 24 feet long, and 17 wide, which open into a hall 11 feet wide. The height of the principal story is $14\frac{1}{2}$, and of the upper story, $12\frac{1}{2}$ feet.

The height of the building, from the ground, in front, is about 46 feet. It contains thirteen large and sixteen small rooms, which are appropriated to sick seamen, and in which about 125 patients can be comfortably accommodated ; besides which there are a number of adjoining apartments, for bathing rooms, water closets, nurses bedrooms, &c.

The Bloomingdale Asylum is built of stone, three stories high and about 211 feet long, finished in a style plain, but neat, and contains accommodations for about two hundred patients. It is situated in one of the most healthful and beautiful spots on the island of New-York ; commanding an extensive and variegated prospect. Annexed to it are about forty acres of land, a portion of which is laid out in walks and gardens. The Trustees of Columbia College having presented to the governors the plants that remained in the conservatory of the botanic garden, these have been placed in a proper building, and contribute to the embellishment of the place, and the amusement of the patients.

With every local advantage, the governors have adopted the system of moral treatment which the legislature had in view when they provided for this Institution ; but without neglecting any of the aids which the science of medicine can afford. The patients are arranged in classes according to the form which their particular maniacal delusions have assumed—whether monomania, mania, dementia, idiotism, or delirium a potu ; and treated in that manner which seems best adapted to dissolve their morbid associations of ideas, in restoring the power and habit of self-control ; in substituting agreeable reflections and sensations for those which are painful and irritating, in inducing a habit of employing their judgment, which, like every other faculty, is strengthened by exercise. The means of effecting these ends must be adapted to the case of each patient, and are of course extremely various. Harsh treatment, and all needless restraint is avoided. Chains are not used ; even confinement to the cells is seldom resorted to. The violent and noisy male patients who might have an injurious effect upon convalescents, are placed in a separate wing, at some distance from the main building, with detached yards ; a similar arrangement is also made as to violent female patients.

As much liberty as is consistent with safety, is allowed to the patients ; many are permitted to leave the house, and to employ themselves in the garden, or on the farm. They are taken out to ride in a carriage kept for that purpose ; occupations of different kinds are afforded them, and they are permitted to partake of various innocent amusements; they are allowed to dine together in classes, and every thing that can appropriately contribute to their comfort is particularly attended to; the bible is occasionally read to them, and on the Sabbath a minister of the gospel is provided for the benefit of those who are susceptible of profiting by his instructions; the foundation of a library has also been laid by donations from various friends of the Institution, and a reading-room, with news-papers and magazines, is established, which are not void of benefit to those who are capable of using it.

Formerly there was a consulting as well as a resident physician, who visited the Asylum twice or three times a week, or as often as was deemed necessary, but in 1830 this office was abolished, since when the control of the medical department of the Institution has been placed under the charge of the resident physician.

With the view of increasing the usefulness of this Asylum, the governors of the Hospital engaged Dr. James Macdonald (who for several years had charge as resident physician of the insane patients, and who had minutely studied all the establishments for the insane in this country) to visit Europe, for the purpose of examining the hospitals for lunatics, and making himself acquainted with the economy, management, and mode of cure practised in the best institutions of the kind there. He sailed in July, 1831, and after an absence of fifteen months, having visited the most celebrated hospitals for lunatics in France, England, and Italy, returned and resumed the charge of the Bloomingdale Asylum. He continued for some years after his return to act as chief officer of the Institution, and freely communicated the knowledge that he had acquired, and the result of his experience in the treatment and cure of the insane. Dr. Benj. Ogden, who was favorably known as a person of experience in this department, was appointed to succeed Dr. Macdonald, and is now the chief officer of the Institution, and directs the medical and moral treatment of the patients. A warden and matron have charge of every thing that concerns the household department, with the exception of the hiring and dismissal of servants and attendants upon the patients, and the whole is superintended by the "Bloomingdale Asylum Committee," which Committee attend weekly or oftener if necessary at the Bloomingdale Asylum, and report monthly their proceedings to the Board of Governors.

The benefits of such establishments as the New-York Hospital and Asylum are too obvious to every benevolent and reflecting mind, to require the aid of particular description. Notwithstanding the provisions made for the relief of the indigent in the different towns and counties, and the numerous charitable associations, public and private, which reflect so much honor on the state; so numerous are the objects which solicit the aid of the benevolent, to mitigate their distress; so various are the accidents of life, and so diversified the forms of human misery, that such institutions are indispensable in the great system of public charity. Various causes conspire to render public hospitals peculiarly necessary in a great city, the capital of a commercial, populous, and flourishing state. It is there adventurers, and persons from distant countries, resort to better their fortunes, or to engage in more congenial pursuits. It is the capital which receives most of the emigrants from foreign countries, driven from their homes by poverty, misfortune, or crime ; or impelled to seek, in a distant land, a more secure enjoyment of political and religious freedom, or a more advantageous exercise of their various trades and professions. The immense business carried on in such a commercial and growing city, in navigation, ship building, architecture, manufactures, and all the auxiliary arts and trades, while it attracts great numbers from the neighboring states in search of employment, and the pursuit of gain, must give rise to frequent accidents and diseases, for which many who are destitute of friends and relations, can find no cure or relief but in a public hospital.

There is another point of view in which this hospital may also be regarded as an institution of great public utility. The central position of this city, in regard to other parts of the United States, and the easy and convenient access to it, at all seasons, render it an admirable situation for an establishment of a school of medicine. The governors of the hospital, regarding the improvement of medical science as a most important, though an incidental object, of the institutions under their care, have given, and still continue to give every advantage to the teachers and professors of medical science, which can be afforded, consistent with the primary object of the institution, the relief of the diseased ; and the students of medicine derive the most important aids in their studies, from attending on operations, visiting the sick, hearing clinical lectures, and having access to a large and most valuable library.

Founded and supported on the principles of the Christian religion and general benevolence, without respect to any sects or distinctions, political, civil, or religious, all persons whose maladies render them fit objects for such a charity, are considered as equally entitled to the benefits of this Hospital.

By this humane and useful institution, the rich and the benevolent have it in their power to alleviate the real and oppressive misery of the poor, with the pleasing assurance, that while they are indulging the finest feelings of the heart, and fulfilling the great duty of Christianity, their charity will not be abused, nor their bounty misapplied. Indeed, when the object of this bounty, and the manner in which it is bestowed, are considered, it must be a consoling reflection, that in no other way could private or public contributions be so efficaciously and beneficially applied, or produce so much real and unmixed good to the community.*

* It may not be improper to inform those who may feel disposed to contribute to this institution, by will, that the following is a proper form of a devise for that purpose :—Item : I give and bequeath to "the Society of the New-York Hospital," the sum of NOTE. By a Law of the United States, every Seaman in the Merchant Service pays 20 cents per month (deducted out of their wages) for their support, if sick or disabled. This not being sufficient for the support of all who applied for Hospital relief, the Governors admitted the number enumerated above, being supernumerary, or more than what has been yearly paid for by the United States. They conceive they have an equitable claim on government, for the maintenance of the seamen thus admitted, amounting to fifteen thousand one hundred and forty-one dollars 28 cents, as will appear from the preceding statement, and they have repeatedly petitioned Congress, but as yet have not succeeded in obtaining payment.
